Dear Art,

I am pleased to confirm your appointment as a DCI Fellow at the Center for the Study of Intelligence beginning in May. I view the Center as an important vehicle for looking at the long-range prospects for intelligence and for looking objectively at ourselves and our performance. It also provides an opportunity for carefully selected intelligence officers to enhance their professional competence through study of key issues confronting the Intelligence Community today. Your research on ways of assessing the impact of intelligence on national security decisions will address an issue of critical importance to the future of the Agency and the Community.

Again, my congratulations on your selection for this distinct honor, and my best wishes for success in your studies. It is my expectation that you will find your work at the Center profitable from a career standpoint. I look forward to seeing the product of your research.

Yours,

/s/ Stansfield Turner
